

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

A check-in with the editor ...

Learning Outcome

Analyze issues relating to different topics and their solution in written and spoken situations according to work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about solving problems.
- I can report facts about events or actions.
- I can talk about my work responsibilities.

Ask your partner:

- What are the conditions in which you feel you are most productive?
- Do you enjoy working when there are other people around or do you prefer to work alone? Why?

Let's Explore!

Kristi brings her editor up to speed.

* When you "bring someone up to speed", you give them all the most recent information.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Boris: Hi Kristi! How are things coming along?
- Kristi: Great! As soon as I finish this chapter, I'll forge ahead with the next one. I'd like to keep working on this chapter until it's perfect.
- Boris: I understand that you have done a lot of editing in previous jobs. You must be pretty good at it.
- Kristi: I suppose that I have worked on several different documents in the past. Nothing really significant yet.
- Boris: Well, you'll get lots of experience here! And you know that you can work on the editing anywhere you want, right? We don't really have assigned work spaces here. Just find a spot where you are comfortable and productive!
- Kristi: I reckon I've been most productive in quiet places, but I do like to have people around. I don't work well in isolation. I guess I've always worked best with the energy of being around people.
- Boris: Okay. Well, that editing needs to be done by tomorrow, so you have to finish it as soon as possible. It can't be late. If you are late, it holds up the whole production schedule.
- Kristi: Okay, I will make this a priority and really focus on it. I imagine that you have chased lots of editorial assistants for their work. I don't want to waste anyone's time.
- Boris: So tomorrow will you be ready to work on some layout? We need to get going on that.
- Kristi: Yes. I'll finish up the editing shortly, and then I can begin the layout whenever you want.
- Boris: That's great Kristi. I'm glad you're working with us. I think you've been a great addition to the team already.

Let's Practice!

The editor gives Kristi many tasks.

Instructions: Read the sentences and circle the correct words to complete them.

1. I understand / understanding / understands that you have done a lot of editing in previous jobs.
2. I supposed / suppose / supposing that I have worked on several different documents in the past.
3. I reckoning / reckons / reckon I've been most productive in quiet places but, I do like to have people around.
4. I guesses / guessing / guess I've always worked best with the energy of being around people.
5. I imagines / imagine / imagining that you have chased lots of copy editors for their work.

Let's Practice!

Kristi talks to her editor about how she works.

Instructions: Read the parts of the sentences on the left. Choose the option that best completes the sentence.

	coming along?	significant yet.	in isolation.	it holds up the whole production schedule.	productive in quiet places.
I don't work well
I reckon I've been most
How are things
Nothing really
If you are late

Extension Activity

Compare a good manager and a bad manager.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- With a partner, brainstorm adjectives to describe good and bad qualities in a manager.
- Make a list of things that a good manager should and shouldn't do.
- Write a paragraph describing the personality and behavior of a good manager.
- Exchange paragraphs with another group and see if you had any of the same ideas.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I brainstorm qualities of a good manager.

☐ ☐

I list things a manager should and shouldn't do.

☐ ☐

I write a paragraph describing a good manager.

☐ ☐

I compare my paragraph with another group.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- isolation (noun): the state of being or feeling alone, isolated e.g. I don't work well in isolation.
- to reckon (verb): to think or believe e.g. I reckon I've been most productive in quiet places.
- to come along (verb): to progress
e.g. How are things coming along?
- significant (adjective): important e.g. Nothing really significant yet.
- to hold up (verb): to delay
e.g. If you are late, it holds up the whole production schedule.
- to forge ahead (verb): to suddenly make a lot of progress with something e.g. As soon as I finish this chapter, I'll forge ahead with the the next one.
- shortly (adverb): soon
e.g. I'll finish up the editing shortly, and then I can begin the layout whenever you want.

Learning Points

Adverbial Clauses

An adverbial clause is two or more words that serve the function of an adverb.

Adverbs of Place

An adverb of place identifies where something happens. It usually begins with a preposition (e.g., in, on, near) or one of the following subordinating conjunctions: anywhere, everywhere, where, or wherever.

- In a house where everything is in order, nobody loses anything.

Adverbs of Manner

An adverb of manner explains the way something is done. It usually starts with one of the following subordinating conjunctions: as, like, or the way.

- He laughs like a hyena.
- You are looking at me the way a child looks at a ghost.

Adverbs of Time

An adverb of manner explains when something happens. It usually starts with one of the following subordinating conjunctions: as soon as, when, until, or whenever.

- Whenever I call, he's busy.
- I will send the document as soon as I get to the office.

Until means – up to that time, so, until 4 p.m. means up to 4p.m. but not after.

Examples:

- As soon as I complete the report, I'll answer your question.
- I'll continue working on this novel until it wins the Nobel prize.
- We can start the meeting whenever it is most convenient for you.

Learning Points

Present Perfect with Report or Comment Phrases

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about past events that have a connection to the future.

You can use the Present Perfect tense with other verbs to report or comment on events.

You use verbs such as reckon, understand, suppose, guess and imagine to communicate your thoughts and to report about something that happened in the past and has a connection to the present.

The structure is:

subject + report/comment verb+ (that) + Present Perfect

For example:

I understand (that) you have done a lot of editing in previous jobs.

Examples:

- I suppose that I have worked on several different documents in the past.
- I reckon I've been most productive in quiet places, but I do like to have people around.
- I guess I've always worked best with the energy of being around people.
- I imagine that you have chased lots of copy editors for their work.

